

Classy Blues!

Every DS story has an interesting beginning. And a delightful end. Who would have thought that a happy haven can exist atop the stark wooden steps leading to mezzanine loft space ?

The transformation is there to see. The blue room with its quirky graphics by young chennai artists brings the wall to life. The glazed wall alongside let's the world in. There's a time and space for foot tapping beats. And a time and space for quiet star gazing. There is a nook to work and a book or two to curl up with. There's cozy comfort in the air.

Isn't the millennial all about living life to its hilt ? His room needs to keep pace with him. And it does. It's a tale in teal, and a conversation piece with every visitor.

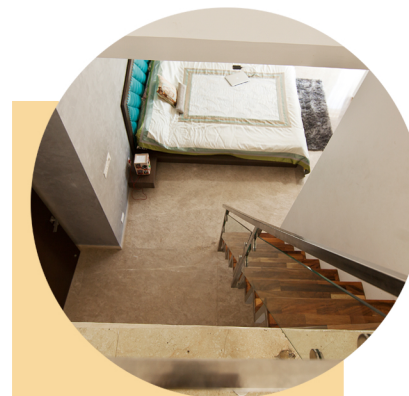

Who says stargazing and desk work can't coexist?

They do, in this den. Work space. Drum pads for creative expression. Star gazing to dream or discover another world. This is a young man's world of possibilities.

A loft with a view - wall art, window wall, drums and solitude.

Solo space for the creative millennial.

Step up to a cozy haven.

Welcome to the drummer lad's den!
